An Authority

With 63 Mississippi Coast lawyers appearing as counsel of record in the petition of Carl Marshall disbarred practitioner in the courts of the state and all of them expected to actively participate in the hearing on the petition at Gulffort next Monday, June 20, before Chancellor D. M. Russell, Circuit Judge Walter A. White announced that he would recess his term of court on June 20 and 21 for this hearing.

In addition to this record number of attorneys appearing as counsel, it was learn from Bidwell Adam, former lieutenant governor and one of the attorneys most active in seeking Marshall's reinstatement, that there would be approximately 200 witnesses on hand ready to testify as to Marshall's character and reputation. This large number will not be subpoenaed for the hearing he stated, as the majority were waiting to present themselves voluntarily.

Hundreds of prominent citizens throughout the state have signed affidavits attesting to their desire to see Marshall, disbarred last November by the state supreme court as an outgrowth of the famous Warrenite Road Company $80 000 "scandal" reinstated and declaring that in their opinion he has been "more than sufficiently punished for any wrong he might have done.'

ROTARIANS TOŁD OF GULFSIDE

Activities by Rotary Speaker. S. J. Ingram, at Regular Luncheon-Meet This Week.

City Superintendent S. J. Ingram, a member of the teaching faculty at Gulfside, educational and recreational center at Waveland, told the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club members Wednesday of the educational activities at Gulfside.

Prof. Ingram told of the corps of teachers, many holding A. B., M. A. and Phd. degrees, showing how thoroughly qualified were teachers Members Bay-Waveland who were in charge, these being of the colored race.

At present there are some 175 preachers, 75 teachers and others taking the different courses offered, the normal school course of six weeks now in session. The cost was so low, said Prof. Ingram, that Gulfside was really an institution of merit and lasting benefit rather than a money-making project, the latter the least of the management's concern. The idea of Bishop R. E. Jones and others who originated and promoted Gulfside, being to ameliorate the condition of the colored race and not a matter of any aggrandizement either personally or financially.

Prof. Ingram said there were speakers and lecturers there from all parts of the country, heads of the Rosenwald and other trust funds, heads of universities and colleges who lectured and inspired the common as well as the higher cause of the colored race. In detail he told of the work and this knowledge given prove of much interest. Practically, the local individual knows little or nothing of the work carried on at Gulfside.

Luther M., Barksdale, of Pass Christian was a visiting Rotarian.

Secretary Scafide informed the club that Pass Christian Rotary members, agreed to hold an intercity and Ladies' Night meeting in Bay St. Betty Roy, Elsie Mae Capdepon, Louis on the evening of July 7, when the recently-elected officers for the willing assistance in the Rhythm local club will be installed. A com- Band. mittee for the program will be appointed later, it was stated.

BOATHOUSE; JORDAN RIVER, RESEMBLES HANDSOME DWELLING

R. T. O'Dwyer Owner of Santuary for Private Yacht "Junior II,"—Ample Space.

Quite a building for boathouse purpose is in course of completion at the W. J. Harrison place on Jordan river, near Bay St. Louis, for the accommodation of the power yacht, "Junior II," owned by R. T. O'-Dwyer of New Orleans, whose summer family home is on the Waveland beach. This building is easily the finest and most substantial of its kind between New Orleans and Mobile, its construction of the very best and material of better grade. The building has every appearance of a residence, on the order of the cottage kind, single type, weatherboarded and windows giving every appearance of a home dwelling. Within, however, the building is one long space where the "Junior II" might "steam" in and enter her spacious berth with its protecting proportions and away from the deteriorating ravages of sun and rain

To the fore of this boat house is space for two rooms, to be divided and here the crew or others will enjoy the accommodations of two living apartments. It is also noted that the lumber, roofing and other material is of the best and the hardware is of that type of brass that will weather the corroding influence of water and air.

Mr. O'Dwyer's yacht is of such type and size as to warrant the building of this beautiful home and is an exemplification of his manner of doing things, correctly and in no

CAMP TO BEGIN

Activities at St. Stanislaus This Friday Afternoon For Term of Six Full Weeks.

Camp Stanislaus opens for a sixweek 'season this Friday afternoon on the arrival of the 5 o'clock coast train from New Orleans.

The faculty reports reservations from different parts of Louisiana and Mississippi, especially from New Orleans, and while the exact number could not be given when the reporter called at the college, it was definitely assured that the attendance would exceed all expectations.

In response to many inquiries whether special classes would be held in order that certain studies might be caught up with during vacation, this feature was added by President Bro. Peter, who at once recognized the possibility of making the camp term of academic value besides recreational and other features. Hence for a short period each day, possibly an hour or two there will be special In Rercreation studies. This, however, will be optional with the boy or his parents.

It will be noted extensive tennis courts have been built on the Union street side of the campus, to be used during the camp period and other equipment built to meet the requirements of those of Stanislaus camp. 'Nothing has been overlooked, nothing forgotten," said Bro. Peter, "for the comfort and recreational pleasure of the members of Stanislaus Camp, for we have planned to build this feature of our college each year until it shall have attained a possible national regutation, located on the gulf as we are."

With such main activity during the summer vacation period, hereretreats and other activities of more or less importance, the reporter said president smiled and nodded in ac-

U. S. LIBERAL TO VETERANS.

TRACTICALLY every American citizen favors a liberal policy in taking care of disabled war veterans and the dependents of those who were killed or who are now disabled from war service.

Recently, a special article in The New York Times called attention to the fact that the United States is spending more money for socalled "veterans' relief" than Germany, France, Great Britian, Italy and Canada combined. The American army lost 360,300 dead and wounded and the five allied nations suffered a loss of more than 16,000,000 dead and wounded. In other words, the United States is spending, per casualty, practically fifty times as much as the other countries.

The American system differs from that of other countries in that it extends aid to all who were mobilized and this is brought about, to some extent by the political pressure of the veterans themselves. The "bonus" idea is distinctly an American invention and Congress has repeatedly refused to limit aid only to the wounded and the dependents of those suffering casual-

During the next fiscal year, it is estimated that twenty-six and one-tenth per cent of the Government's expenditures will be for veterans' relief. In Great Britian the percentage is five and eight-tenths and it is remarkable to note that the peak of the pension load has already been passed in that country, where the burden of pensions growing out of the World War has been reduced fifty-five percent in the past twelve

One should bear in mind that Great Britian had almost 2,000,000 men wounded and about 1,000,000 killed. In the face of such a casualty list her pensions bill has dropped to less than $200,000,000. The American Government is expected to spend more than $1,000,000,000 during the corresponding year.

VOTE FOR AMERICAN GOVERNMEN

of government.

In essence, it revolves around the theme that against the general welfare.

The opposite theory, sometimes the guiding | tion. star of public servants, is that any office they may be able to secure gives them opportunities to bestow profitable favors to some of their friends, and that if this can be done without violating the law, it is entirely proper-

One reason for the high tax burden that the people of this country are now paying for the pleasure of being governed is this same betraval of the interests of all the people by elected officials who think only of building up their political fences. It is evident in "bloc" control of the Senate, the House, of legislative bodies everywhere when admittedly poor laws are enacted because a majority can be corralled by giving something to enough members.

In casting your vote during the elections of this year consider this fact, and be loyal to the American ideal of government. Let elected representatives understand that they are on the firing line to protect the public, not to feed pap to minority interests that wax fat while the people pay the bills.

AN APT ILLUSTRATION.

A RTHUR BRISBANE, reputed to be the highest paid editor in the world, and certainly one of the most widely read, says that the difference between this country today and in 1929 is the difference between a dead man and a live "Both have the same organs, but in the dead man the circulation of the blood has stopped. That is what has happened today. Money, the blood of industry and business, is not circulating."

This is an apt illustration. Most of us know very little about the blood in our bodies and less about money, the blood of business. In both cases there is a lot of hokum mixed in the popular mind, which sometimes falls for quack rem-

UDGE V. A. GRIFFITH FOR RE-ELEC-TION TO THE SUPREME COURT.

Four judges of our Supreme Court are to be elected this year. However much other officers may have fallen short in the last few years, such has not been the case with our Supreme Court, for it has stood out conspicuously as an able, industrious and courageous body in the public service. By all means, let us keep it so and hold on to the valuable men we have in that body. One of those to be re-elected is Judge V. A. Griffith, of our own district.

Judge Griffith is a native of Lawrence county, and in the days of his boyhood Brookhaven was the market town for his people. After his graduation from the literary department at the University, he came to Brookhaven to complete his preliminary law studies and was admitted to the bar here in 1898. In 1899 he located permanently in Harrison County, where for 21 years he held high rank in his profession. In 1920 he was elected chancellor and was continued in that position until 1928, when he was elected to the Supreme Court. As Chancellor he made a statewide reputation. The affection and confidence in which he is held by his adopted county of Harrison is shown by the fact that for supreme court judge, he received in that county a vote of 4,470 to 370.

As a member of the supreme court he has been an able and industrious team mate to the other five judges. There could be no higher proof of this than the fact that he has been called upon by the other judges to write nearly one-third of the important en banc opinions of the court. His ability has received marked recognition outside of the state, for his opinions have been reprinted in the American Law Reports among the leading judicial opinions of the country in such numbers as to cause him to rank fourth in the southern states, and twentyeighth among all the appellate judges of the nation. Lawyers and others who have patriotically watched our Supreme Court are unanimous in bearing testimony that the demonstrated ability and industry of this man have been marked in equal quality by an absolute impartiality and fearlessness at every step of his official work.

If this record would not merit re-election, what would?-Brookhaven Leader, June

WE take pleasure in calling prominent atten-tion to the above editorial from the Brookhaven Leader; and we may add that in doing so, we have before us the written endorsement of that editorial by every lawyer and county officer in Bay St. Louis and Hancock county. Next to his home county of Harrison, we of Hancock County can justly claim to be best acquainted with Judge Griffith. The important law firm of which he was a member had one of its offices here for years, and as a man, as a lawyer and IN VIEW of coming elections it might be well then as chancery judge, we knew him well and for the citizens of Bay St. Louis to review, so well that in his candidacy for Supreme Court briefly, the main idea behind the American form judge, four years ago, he received in Hancock County a vote of 1,483 to 133. Since then we have watched with pride his record on the Suthe people can secure, through elections, honest preme Court bench, and in advocating his remen who will assume office as a public trust and election, we believe we act in the interest of the refuse to represent special interests that militate state and express practically the unanimous sentiment of the people of this county and sec-

HERE'S "FATHER'S DAY."

WE DON'T know how many families in Hancock county will observe "Father's Day," which occurs on Sunday, the 19th, but it might be a good idea, once in a while to give the old man a few thoughts.

Father ought not need much sympathy. He ought to be in the vigorous prime of life somewhere between the ages of 25 and 50, and able to take care of himself, while doing his best to take care of his family.

About the greatest gift that can come to him is a home that is free from snarling and bickering between members of the family, with just a dash, perhaps, of appreciation of the fact that he has, at least, done the best that he could for his brood, allowing, of course, a few breaks to the old man as an ordinary human being and not

It might be a good idea for Bay St. Louis housewives to grant the alleged head of the house a few favors on the Sunday that some zealous souls have labelled his. Maybe, his dessert for dinner-that usually touches the heart of the male. Or, maybe, a few extra courtesies or a demonstration of the fact that the family looks upon him as something else than a poor provider!

The average citizen would be better off if he kept his money invested near his home; when he puts it in stocks, manipulated by pools, he might as well kiss it for the last time.

THE so-called bonus expeditionary force now engaging public attention and occupying themselves with marching to Washington, is a mass movement that reflects credit upon nobody. Whether the bonus should be paid or not is a question to be decided in some other manner than through the methods being adopted by these veterans. Plainly, the authorities at the capitol fumbled the ball when they entertained With the bonus army in Washington leading the first contingent, thus inviting others to make

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS By Chicagoan

A Review of the News of Last Week's Echo.

MHICAGO, ILL., June 14.—I am thinking this morning of a statement made by a radio speaker last night. Like so many of us everywhere, he was trying to decipher the puzzle of the world today. Finally with great force and with the triumphant air of a man who had just made an important discovery, he roared: "Selfishness! . . That's what's the matter with the world.

We're all selfish." Are we? I'm wondering. Looking at it one way, of course, we may be promoting our own happiness, even when we are making sacrifices for others. But my radio friend and most everybody else calls that kind of selfishness unselfish. So . . . well, here's the Sea Coast Echo. Perhaps it will shed some light on the subject.

Here I see that work on the O. S. T. has actually started. I don't suppose that would have been true had each individual in Bay St. Louis worked solely for his own interests. But merchants, professional men, members of the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary, and all others must have co-operated to bring this about. Call it by what name you will, but a certain right kind of spirit is not lacking in Bay St. Louis, radio speakers and local grumblers notwithstanding.

Wonderful work is being performed by Mrs. R. B. Logan, Mrs. J. A. Evans and Dr. Shipp in preparing for the free dental clinic announced in the Echo last week. Those who enjoy health want others to know its blessings, so that they may enjoy life the more and the whole world be made happier. So we have social workers like the members of the Parent-Teachers' Association, we have nurses and doctors, giving unstintingly of themselves. Some even lay themselves open to infection by germs of malignant diseases. If it weren't for these socially minded people and their good work, a period of economic depression might bring with it many deathly plagues such as swept the earth during the dark ages of the past.

Here's an excellently phrased article by Editor Moreau, in which he praises the citizens of Pascagoula for the fine community house they have built. Do all Echo readers, I wonder, appreciate the unselfishness of this paper? The news is gathered, sifted, sorted and arranged for their convenience and enjoyment. Articles and editorials, worthy of the largest of publications are presented as a regular matter of course. Column after column of space in the Echo is devoted to the promotion of the best interests of the Coast Country. Every line in these columns represents an outlay of thoughtful labor and actual cost, vet from them the publisher neither receives nor expects a single cent. But of course, most folks realize that a newspaperman willingly makes sacrifices rather than lower the standard of his paper. They have not lost sight of the great need they have for the home paper through which all of the people of the community talk with each other and to the world.

The news of the gradation exercises at St. Joseph's Academy is another exemplification of that nice kind of selfishness we choose to call unselfishness. Such news tells of parents toiling and sacrificing that their children may have the advantages of an education. The history of days of patient · labor and nights of budgeting and worry is written in the story of every graduation exercise. And the graduates themselves? Although yet young, they too have learned to sacrifice. They have helped their parents, they have denied themselves social pleasures rather than neglect their studies they have assisted fellow students who experienced some difficulty in their work, they have cooperated with their teachers in many ways at the cost of giving up pleasures of their own.

See how unselfishly the members of St. Margaret's Daughters have contributed of their time, work and money to provide the assistance their organization has extended to the needy. And surely it was not selfishness that prompted the promise of cooperation by the Chamber of Commerce after Mrs. Chas. A. Gordon and Mrs. G. Y. Blaize addressed that body last Tuesday night.

Prominent Resident Victim of Bath Tub Accident; Recovering

Mrs. Josie E. Welch, proprietress of the ever interesting "Ye Curiosity Shoppe," and whose office and adjacent reception room is always a place where cultured and other interesting people meet in discussion of books, magazines, plays and current events, is recovering from a serious accident. While emerging from a bath recently she fell and severely cut the base of her skull and was injured to serious extent. Dr. Horton was the attending physician and Miss Welch is rapidly recovering from an accident that possibly might had proven fatal.

While news of the accident to her many friends will be distressing, yet the announcement of her recovery will prove a source of genuine pleasure and satisfaction. "Miss Josie," as her friends affectionately call: her, is probably one of the best known women on the Coast, particularly of this immediate section, with friends over the entire country, her social correspondence possibly larger than anyone else living here. Miss Welch is not only known for her literary attainments and general accomplishments, but as a student of current events and for interpretive comment and able opinions.

Coast Press Club To Be Entertained At Ocean Springs Home

First Monday of the month falling on the "Fourth" next month, regular monthly meeting of the Mississippi Coast Press Club will not be held on the "first Monday," but on the second Monday instead, and it is interesting to members of the coast craft of pencil pushers and press to learn that not only has beautiful Ocean Springs been selected for place of meeting, with Editor A. E. Lee and his son and business associate, Harry Lee, as hosts, but that the regular dinner and meeting to follow will be held at the private beach villa, known as "Many Oaks," one of the outstanding and show places of the more substantial order on the coast. This is not only a concession but a compliment to the Coast Press Club which has become one of the more prominent and outstanding groups of the coast, not only because of the success of the club, but because of the ideals and principles represented, its membership and every month the number of different prominent people who sit and break bread with the craft.

A Warship at Last

As the war raged fiercer and reports told of probable invasion of the Gulf shores of Mississippi by landing parties from federal naval ships and transports, the old lightship came into her own-to the birthright denied her through all her life afloat. She heard the crash of cannon and felt the ripping of shot and shell through rigging and hull. She rode, flagless and manless, in the heat of battle, as Mississippi's coast battery of artillery, commanded by the picturesque Captain John V. Toulme, made a target of her. She served the Confederate forces well, showing Captain Toulme and his doughty cannoneers just what they could do to a Yankee warship if it dared to rush the mouth of the bay.

The war dragged its weary and gruelling length, and peace came to the land. The old lightship, further punctured by rust and bearing the scars of Captain Toulme's shot and shell, was resting on the bottom, with bulwarks catching the break of the green waves of the Delegates to Go to Chicago "Friendly" to N. Y. Governor-Twenty Delegates.

Mississippi Democrats have turned down a movement for support of a dry plank in the party platform and elected delegates "friendly" to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York to cast their twenty votes at the national convention.

The twenty delegates, named at the state convention at Jackson last week, were uninstructed as a unit, but the individuals were openly favorable to nomination of Governor Roosevelt as the Democratic presidential candidate.

United States Senators Pat Harrison and Hubert D. Stephens, Governor Sennett Conner and Attorney General Greek L. Rice, head the Mississippi delegation.

A resolution urging adoption of a dry plank in the national platform introduced by the Hinds county delegation, was overwhelmingly voted down subsequent to a keynote speech in which Senator Sterhens urged the convention to "steer clear" of the prohibition issue. Party conventions, he said, are not the places to aecide that question.

L. & N. Announces · Low Excursion Rate

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad announces a one-cent-per-mile excursion effective Saturday, June 18. with tickets for return trip good until June 26th.

This does not mean that you can get a round-trip ticket for the low price of one-way fare. If you take a trip 500-miles distant-that would be 1,000 miles for the round trip at 1 cent per mile, or $10.00.

Many have misunderstood this announcement, thinking they could purchase a round-trip ticket for 1 cent a mile one way.

NEW TRIUMPH FOR

Role of Career.

Greta Garbo in an exotic silver wig and black harlequin costume heroine of Pirandello's great play, have been printed. "As You Desire Me." The screen version of this stage hit will be at the A. & G. Theater this Sunday and Monday.

"As You Desire Me," affords Miss Garbo a dual character, as it were, later changing her personality and mood to fit the demure and fragile creature into whose memory she projects her life. Laden with metaphysics and psychology, it is a story of regeneration done in a cleverly different manner. Indeed, the story is so unusually aprealing in a unique treatment, that it holds the interest of genuine life drama.
